LILLIE'S LOCK OPENED IN ONE MINUTE!

NEW YORK, September 2, 1864.

F. TILLMAN, Esq., 318 Battery street,
Bet. Commercial and Clay, San Francisco.

DEAR SIR: WE NOTICE AN ADVERTISEment in your daily papers respecting the "security" of the "Lillie" lock. We are aware that you well understand this lock, and, of course, will not allow yourself to be annoyed by such representations. We have just sent for one of our men at the factory, and he, in our presence, opened one of Lillie's best safe locks, after it had been locked and the combination turned on,

By one Blow of the Hammer

Against the knob on the outside, and thoreby breaking the cast iron bolt on the inside.

The whole time occupied in opening the lock was about ONE MINUTE. We send you this lock that your friends may not be deceived by false representations, etc.

Respectfully, etc.,
A. E. TILTON,
WM. McFARLAND.

GLOUCESTER, March 26, 1864.

Messrs. TILTON & McFARLAND,
Safe Manufacturers, Boston, Mass.

Gentlemen: From representations made by Mr. Lillie, I was induced to purchase one of his

So-called "Fire Proof Safes,"

On the 18th of February last, a fire occurred in our block which destroyed a number of buildings, and our own with the rest. We trusted our books, papers and all in the safe. After the fire the so-called "safe" was taken from the ruins, and on opening it we found that Everything was Destroyed.

We send you the safe, with what is left of the papers, and you will see that not one of them is legible or strong enough to sustain its own weight. Having the curiosity to know how our neighbors fared in this fire, we noticed McKenrie & Hardy just opening their safe (TILTON & McFARLAND'S make), and its contents were found to be

In Perfect Condition.

This led us to further investigation, and we found to our astonishment that from the large amount of combustible material in Messrs. McK. & H.'s cellar—such as lard, pork, etc.—their safe was subjected to a much greater heat than that of our own, we being in the clothing business and had but little in the cellar. There was another of Lillie's safes here subjected to the same fire, faring, however, no better than our own.

Very respectfully,
Your obedient servants,
(Signed:) GEO. L. CHESBRO & CO.

TILTON & McFARLAND'S SAFE!

THE ONLY PROTECTION

Against Fire and Burglars.

For the last Fifteen Years

This safe has been well known in California and the Eastern States. They have resisted all the fires on the Pacific coast, and we can point with satisfaction to the record that out of one of our safes by means of burglars. Their fire and burglar proof qualities are so well known that they need no further recommendation.

A good assortment of Tilton & McFarland's Fire and Burglar Proof Safes to be had at DRAFTS FROM A DIARY.

WRITTEN IN REBELDOM.

By a Late Prisoner of War.

NUMBER SEVEN.

A BAYOU AMBUSCADE.

Harry Western, of the "Undaunted Mess," was a type of the generous young sailor. I do not know who claimed him not, come hour in the day, for a friendly helping hand. Like seaboys, generally, he was expert at a hundred little arts of skill and industry; now shaping out a fancy cap, now fashioning new garments out of rags, now finishing a set of chess-men, now denuding hirsute chins of bristling superfluity, and now exciting too redundant locks from polls of fellow prisoners. Harry was a genius, with notable contempt for land-lubberism, and with more than a dash of real poetry in his genial composition. He would give us "Tam O'Shanter," with all its broad Scotch humor, and quote love lines from Tom Moore with true Catullic fervor. Many a "yarn" was spun when our nautical circle gathered about my hearth-fire; and Harry could twist his thread with the most intricate; for he had been a sea-wanderer before his teens, and had trodden remotest strands, and passed through many a strange experience, though scarcely yet the beard of manhood fringed his nut-brown cheeks. He had sailed mate of an ocean clipper ere he turned his twentieth year, and was now, at twenty-twe, a veteran naval officer, with a record of service that might compare with many who wore more embroidery on their uniform sleeves.

Harry Western was latest in command before the surrender of the gunboat Diana, captured on the Atchafalaya by marauding rebels. With half-a-dozen proven comrades, in our prison quarters, the young sailor would often fight the Diana's battle over again in graphic narrative. Brave Lieutenant Mars, who kept his post in the engine-room till all the steam connections had been shot away by cannon-balls, and clouds of scalding vapor filled the space between decks; gallant infantry Lieutenant Bulkley, who has since found a soldier's grave in the Shenandoah Valley; these and many another choice young officer were wont to gather in our mess-circles, where Harry "spun his yarn" of the Diana's capture.

It is but one of the multitude of incidents connected with our war that never will be told veraciously in the official documents. Reports by commandants of posts or colonels in command are in general more elaborate than correct, and yet of such is history made. No mortal eye can trace the fortunes of a single battle-hour in all their shifts and changes; no single record of a conflict, though it be endorsed by the commander-in-chief, and vouched for by an army corps of generals, can ever comprehend the fight in its details; the sudden dash, the quick recoil, the giving and disputing ground, the fierce melee, the isolated grapple, the death-shot, the last agony, with all their infinite phases of wild excitement, iron hardihood, cool forecast, and deliberate purpose, veiled and canopied with a lurid haze of smoke and dust and blood; now dense as thunder-clouds, now torn and rifted by the dreadful shock of cannonry. We may believe no bulletin reports a tithe of what one dying soldier beholds with closing eyes, within the compass of his regimental line. It is well, perhaps, that all this terrible minutiæ of a human battle should be left to the imagination to depicture, and that every fighter should be so involved and swallowed up in the great action of the strife as to remain quite noteless of all scenes or acts beyond his individual part in the wild drama. Nevertheless, when, here and there, apart from the red-tape-bound formula of war-office reports, we read or listen to some personal story of a soldier's battle-life, some episode of peril or prowess in the fiery heat of conflict, we are fain to linger over the unstudied sentences, and wish that history were wrought from such materials.

So, when the simple reminiscences of soldiers found expression in as simple words, and representatives of many a fight exchanged opinions round our log-house hearths, I often gleaned a better knowledge of the battle or campaign than I could gain from all the papers of the War Department. Here, in the rapid crayon dashes of a personal story, I saw some groups of cannoniers, all grim with powder, standing round their gun, and charged upon by rebel horse; and presently a double-quick step behind them, and a blaze of musketry from the supporting infantry column, driving back the gray-coats in disorder. There, sketched rudely on our clay-floor, with a pointed stick, I traced the flanks and centre of a line of battle, with the enemy's direction of attack and the position of our own artillery and reserves. Meantime, the observations, "We were here," and "Thus we moved," and "Here the rebels showed themselves," with quick rejoinders and additions by a score of mutual actors in the field, were worth, to one who could compose and "inwardly digest," much more than all the multiplex reports of aids or adjutants on regulation-paper.

This ratiocination over, I return to Harry Western and his "yarn" of the Diana. It was in the latter days of March, 1863, before the first advance of General Banks through the Attakapas, that a little fleet uf gunboats steamed in Berwick Bay and its contingent waters, under Commodore McKean Buchanan. There were the Diana, Kinsman, and Estrella, the flag-ship Calhoun, and if I remember well, the Sachem. Brashear City had been captured by this armament during Butler's closing days, and about the middle of January our gunboats met two rebel steamers, called the Cotton and Hunt, and chased them up the Teche. A daily sea-engagement, thereafter, with a dogged marching forward of our infantry on land, resulted in a blowing up of the Confederate steamer Cotton, at a heavy price for us—the death of poor Buchanan. He was shot in the moment of victory, and left his name to a fort which we built on the Brashear shore. Our troops fell back, the rebels followed, and regained their ground; and so the month of February passed; we occupying one shore of the beautiful Berwick Bay and the Confederate forces freely ranging on the ether. In March we drew back to the Bayou Bœuff, a channel penetrating from the bay to lakes and water-sheets which intersected the marshes in rear of Brashear City. Our outpost forces still remained at Fort Buchanan; and about the 27th of March a gunboat, the Diana, was despatched upon a sugar speculation. I doubt if this fact be recorded in official reports, but it is certain that the stout little gunboat, with her two thirty-two pound broadside guns, her Parrott and her Dahlgren brass pieces, and her crew of ninety officers and men, steamed up, one pleasant morning, to the widow Cochrane's sugar-house, on the Atchafalaya, with two captains' barges towed behind her, and a document in somebody's hands which purported to be a bill of sale for all the widow's sugar. Whether there were playing at cross purposes or not has never come to light, but the good madame made a great outcry about her sugar, and declared the bill-of-sale was a fraudulent one. Meantime, Captain Peterson remarked that rebel scouts were swarming round our pickets, stationed on the lady's grounds. Sharp skirmishing succeeded, and it soon became apparent that Confederate plotting lurked behind the sugar speculation. Some twenty hogsheads had been rolled on one of the barges, when our gunboat captain prudently resolved to wash his hands of the affair. The sugars were re-landed, all hands piped on board, and the Diana steamed for Brashear City. Widow Cochrane saved her saccharine wealth from "Yankee vandals," and our gunboat sheered off just in season to escape a well-concocted ambuscade.

The bill-of-sale, a bait flung out to greedy quartermasters through the rebel spies who lurked within our lines, had failed to compass the Diana's capture for that day at least; but the Confederates confidently counted on another visit of the gunboat to secure the sugar which had nearly been her prize. So reckoned Colonel Gray, the rebel officer in command, and he prepared his ambuscade. Some hundreds of selected riflemen were sent down to lie in wait below the widow Cochrane's premises; the Valverde Battery, of five brass pieces, took position to deliver a raking fire across the bayou. Cavalry detachments, under Major Boon, a Texan Ranger, waited under cover of the woods that fringed the water. Every favorable point was made a covert for some squad of sharpshooters, supporting six-pound howitzers. Thus snugly ambushed, the Confederate trappers waited for their game.

Meantime, unconscious of this scheming, General Weitzel, as our fate would have it, sent an order from his quarters on the Bayou Bœuff to make an armed reconnoisance of Grand Lake The despatch was brought by one of Weitzel's aids, Lieutenant Allen, charged with the reconnoisance. The Diana was selected, and detachments of infantry were sent aboard of her as sharp-shooters. Young Allen was a gallant officer. We dined in company the day before he started on this fatal expedition. With him went Captain Jewett and Lieutenant Kinlay, of the 160th New York Volunteers, and Lieutenant Buckley and Lieutenant Laurie, of the Twelfth Connecticut infantry, and as brave a compliment of officers and crew as ever manned a gunboat.

Grand Lake is a body of water at the north and rear of Brashear City. With Flat Lake, Lake Pelourde, and other aqueous sheets, it bears the general name of Chetimaches Lake. Into these water-beds the Atchafalaya, flowing from Red River, disembogues its tide, and out of them debouches to form Berwick Bay, and lose its volume in another lower bay, to which it gives its name. Fort Buchanan's guns, at Brasher City, command the mouths of both the Atchafalaya and the Teche, which thereabove unite, and near their junction is the town of Pattersonville. A swampy island, bisecting its waters, shapes two channels for the Atchafalaya—one through Grand Lake, and the other curving by the shore of Pattersonville, so that a steamer may sail up into Grand Lake on the Brashear side, and, passing round the island, may return by a channel on the Berwick side The Diana started on her reconnoisance, with Fort Buchanan thus upon her right. She steamed through all the navigable waters back of Brashear City, saw no sign of rebels in their swampy range, and might as safely have retraced her course without encountering enemies. The ambuscade, prepared by Colonel Gray, was on the other channel. There the rebel gangs had lain in wait all night, expecting the Diana to revisit widow Cochrane's sugar-houses. In the morning they beheld our gunboat steaming up, but, to their chagrin, she was headed for the Grand Lake channel. Peering from their skulking places all along the shore, from Pattersonville far down toward Berwick City, they would look across the woody island, and discern the steamer's smoke as she moved hither and thither, reconnoitering the lakes.—Hour after hour they watched, wondering what occupied the Yankee gunboat, and venting divers maledictions on her crew, until at length, as the day wore, they gave up every hope of getting her within their toils.

But destiny was spinning her own web of mischance for the Americans. The gunboat had accomplished her reconnoisance; her head was turned toward Brashear; when, in an evil moment, some one said:

"Supposing we go round by Pattersonville, and give the rebs a shell or two."

"And stop at widow Cochrane's," added some one, laughingly.

The proposition was relished, it is probable, by all; for the monotonous duty of exploring muddy bayous had been wearisome enough. There were several hours of sun yet left, and they might give the Johnnies a "big scare" meantime. So Captain Peterson and Lieutenant Allen laid their heads together for a consultation, and the upshot was that they ventured to take the other channel. Duty and discretion might demand that, having finished the duties of their trip, they should report without delay; but an adventure, with some dash of danger, tempted them, and so they turned the boat toward Pattersonville.

Merrily whirled the wheels, then, and the Diana dashed out of Grand Lake and into the upper Atchafalaya, with flags flying, and guns all shotted ready for the Johnnies. To run past Pattersonville and through the Teche mouth, to bid good day to the widow Cochrane, and, perhaps, have a flying skirmish with rebels and bag a few—these were incitements to freshen one's spirits a bit; and so the gallant gunboat was headed for a rebel ambuscade, and gallant sailors and soldiers rushed unknowingly, into the toils which an adherence to their simple duty would have rendered harmless.

Meantime the overjoyed Confederates followed, with their eyes, the course of the Diana. They watched her progress from the lake, her turn into the Teche, and her swift descent toward Berwick Their cavalry could not restrain themselves, but dashed along the shore. But a blue puff of smoke rose from the gunboat's deck, a loud metalic bark shivered the air, and half-a-dozen rebels in a group were streched out dying on their dying horses.—The survivors fled into the woods; a point-blank shot crushed through the thickets. No response was made from the rebel rifles. The Diana was allowed to come within short range before a shot was fired at her. Then, from long lines of hidden marksmen, and from all the brass artillery pieces shot and balls were poured upon the doomed Americans in an unbroken shower. The rebel cavalry, dismounting, crouched behind the trees and bushes on the bayou bank, discharging their revolvers as fast as they could load them. No human force could stand up under such a hail of lead and iron as beat upon the Diana's decks from every quarter. Her cannoneers were driven from their pieces in the casemates; they scarcely fired a dozen times. Our infantry were powerless on the deck, exposed in mass to raking fires. They gave the rebels a few volleys, and then sought shelter between decks.

Now the exulting rebels grew frantic. Their yells and shouts mingled with the clap of howitzers and the crack of rifles and revolvers. The gunboat's tiller ropes were shot away from both wheels. The engineers stood by their engines, working the boat by verbal orders, in default of steering apparatus. One moment her head was pushed to starboard, and the next to larboard, to avoid encountering a bank. The channel was narrow, and rapid headway was impossible. Forward the machinery was covered by defences; aloft no part could be protected. The positions of Confederate batteries and sharp shooters were changing constantly, to keep their sweep of the Diana. "There was no moment," said a rebel witness of the scene, "that a galling fire of six-pounders and Minnie rifles was not poured into that boat." While one section of artillery sought some new position, in advance, another section hurled its shells and round shot without pause.—The rebel rifles swept the decks of living combatants, while the howitzers crippled the craft.

Captain Peterson beheld his men driven from their guns, and rallied them repeatedly. The gallant fellows followed him to their posts, but only to be shot down mecilessly. The fight had lasted thirty minutes when the captain fell, struck by a round shot in the breast, and died instantly. Lieut. Dolliver then share the fate of Captain Peterson. Lieutenant Allen was shot down soon after. Two infantry lieutenants sunk beneath their wounds. Captain Jewett was stricken next. Lieutenant Hall commanded till he fell. Dead and dying strewed the decks. A plunging shot, penetrating double casementing, crashed through the pilot-house, and Enfield bullets perforated iron sheating. A fireman had one leg cut smoothly off; a boatswain's mate received a shot which tore the bones of both his legs completely out. McNally, one of the engineers, was killed by a fragment which came crashing through the engine room from a shell that had exploded in the wheel-house. These strange freaks of violence were noted amid clouds of scalding steam that filled the space below, to which all living men were fleeing for shelter.

So the fight went on for nearly three hours, the devoted gunboat making two miles down the bayou. Three officers directed successively, Harry Western the last; and during half the running of that terrible gauntlet this gallant young commander strove to save the boat, refusing to surrender. When the pilot and an engineer had swam ashore, and all the working of the engine devolved on Lieut. Mars; when the exhaust pipe had been severed, and the engine-room was choked with vapor, steam at 120 pressure, and the boat unmanageable; when, in fine, all efforts to escape were plainly futile, then stout Harry Western gave the signal of surrender. It was time.

The rebels on the banks were wild with joy.—The steamer's boats had all been riddled, or shot from their davits, and the Confederate officers came aboard in sugar-coolers. One delirious Johnny could not wait for transportation, but leaped into the bayou and swam off to the Diana. He was a Texan, and pealed out an Indian whoop. Then, spying a violin belonging to Chief Engineer Lieutenant Mars, he clutched it, jumped again into the water, gained the bank, and, mounting on a cassion, played and danced the tune of "Dixie." Then the Johnnies paddled out in sugar-coolers, and began to swarm upon the gunboat.

Such a gunboat as it now appeared! No one might recognize the trim Diana. The scene, above and below, was ruin refined upon. The upper works were riddled like a sieve from stem to stern. Every berth was cut in splinters. Chairs, tables, knives and forks, books, broken glass and china, shattered panels, blood-wet beds and pools of gore, the dead and wounded everywhere.

Such was the Diana's fight—a desperate and stubborn effort to escape from overwhelming forces and numbers. Had the odds been as unequal, or a chance left for resistance, those gallant youngsters who survived would have come off victorious or sank with their vessel. But an ambuscade in Louisiana bayous! one might as well fight the air as attempt defence against a foe as impervious as ubiquitous.

A WOMAN'S REVENGE.

The Court Journal, describing Prince Napoleon's ball, says:—"The Princess Clotilde is attired as usual, without the slightest pretension to extravagance of fashion, and yet loooking the most aristocratic grande dame of the whole company. Her dress was of plain pink tulle, the skirt full trimmed with rich garlands of bright green leaves. None of the jewels belonging to the Italian treasuries, about which so much absurd nonsense has been uttered, but her neck was adorned with emeralds as big as the staring eye-balls of the green-eyed monster, while her brow was encircled with a simple wreath of green leaves, which, casting a mysterious shadow over her features, added to the pensive melancholy expression they always bear. The Empress was standing near, her sweetly soft style of beauty contrasting strongly with the somewhat hard and unfinished contour so characteristic of the Carignans. Her majesty's dress was of sea-green tulle, puffed, looped, and fringed with diamonds. The exact concordance of the shade of green and pink adopted for the two dresses was observed by the artist connoisseurs to be so remarkable, that it was agreed amongst them that the couturieres must have conferred together beforehand. One of our great portrait painters was observed to contemplate the amalgamation of tone and color with the greatest interest. 'You are thinking of a picture,' said a confrere, rousing him from his reverie by a gentle tap on the shoulder. 'No, indeed; I was thinking of the Empress Josephine.' 'Ah, yes—young days, young days!' returned the other, maliciously. 'Pooh, pooh! I was just then at St. Cloud, and before me was standing the lovely Josephine and the still more beautiful Princess Pauline. The pair of beauties could never agree. The reception was given by order of the Emperor for the express purpose of a recognition and a reconciliation between them being acknowledged. The Princess Pauline's entrance caused a great sensation, and we all pressed forward to view the effect produced upon the Empress. The latter, with imperial grace, smiling sweetly, rose to lead her rival to a seat. The two ladies shared equally the admiration of the company as they stood side by side; but presently, when seated, the beauty of the Princess seemed suddenly to fade—to grow dingy as it were—her skin to assume a yellow aspect, and her hair arranged with turquoises and blue ribbons, to lose its lustre. To add to the evil effect, the Princess herself began to grow fretful, and to look around anxiously, and finally, as if overcome by depression, she retired, out of humor with herself and all besides. The next day, at the sitting, the Empress inquired what I thought of Pauline's beauty. 'Splendid when standing,' said I, daubing away at my background with the greatest agitation; 'but she should never sit down when her dress is of light blue satin—at least in a green velvet fauteuil!' Thereupon, to hide the confusion occasioned by the consciousness of my impertinence, I brushed away more valiantly than ever, dodging behind my canvas to await the reprimand I felt sure was coming. But a silvery laugh, like the pearly tinkling of the water-fall visible from the window of the apartment wherein we were seated, was the first signal given that my observation had been understood. Ah! ces cousins d' artistes!' exclaimed her majesty, her eyes glistening with fun and mischief. 'And so you found me out!' It was a harmless woman's vengeance; but I could not help thinking that the Princess would have preferred an open duel with swords and pistols to the frightful punishment she had undergone.

HAPPINESS.—The idea has been transmitted from generation into generation that happiness is one large and beautiful precious stone, a single gem so rare that all search after it is vain, all effort after it hopeless. It is not so. Happiness is a mosaic, composed of many smaller stones. Each taken apart and viewed singly may be of little value, but when all are grouped together and judiciously set, they form a pleasing and graceful whole—a costly jewel. Trample not under foot, then, the little pleasures which a gracious Providence scatters in the daily-path, and which, in eager seeking after some great and exulting joy, we are apt to overlook. Why should we always keep our eyes fixed on the bright, distant horizon, while there are so many lovely roses in the garden in which we are permitted to walk? The very ardor of our chase after happiness may be the reason that she so often eludes our grasp. We pantingly strain after her when she has been graciously brought nigh unto us.

"Ah, Sam, so you've been in trouble, have you?" "Yes, Jim, yes." Well, well, cheer up, man, adversity tries, and shows us our better qualities." "Ah, but adversity didn't try me, it was an old wagabond of a judge, and he showed up my worst qualities."

DUTCH FLAT ENQUIRER.

SATURDAY MORNING, MAY 13, 1865.

Now, by St. Paul, the work goes bravely on,
The Stars and Stripes are up for Liberty,
Flag of the Nation--Talisman of the Free,
Curs'd be the hand that dares to pull thee down

FOURTH OF JULY.—As only a few weeks time remains between this and the anniversary of our nation's birth, we take this opportunity of suggesting that the good and loyal citizens of Dutch Flat commence at once taking steps towards getting up such a celebration as has never been seen in the mountains. Heretofore, during the darkest hours of our nation's struggle for freedom. for the Union and the right, the celebrations of the Fourth of July have been conducted in such a manner as to show to the world that our citizens were loyal, patriotic and true, sympathizing with the efforts of the Government in preserving our country intact from the horde of traitors who wished to destroy it, and that they loved and reverenced the day on which our fathers made the soil a free country and the home of free men. With how much more spirit, more patriotism and more devotion should our citizens unite in the celebration of the coming anniversary, at a time when the darkness is becoming bright, when victory has been achieved upon a hundred battle-fields and the success of the Government in crushing out treason, putting down the hell-born rebellion which has been so foul a blot upon the page of our history, has been firmly established, and the Angel of Peace once more hovers over the land. By that day we may confidently hope to see that the leaders of the rebellion have been arrested and brought to punishment, that peace has been declared, the South again in the Union, under loyal Governors and State officers, and harmony, happiness and contentment smiling on the whole land. And when another Fourth shall come, the North and the South will be seen pursuing the "even tenor of their way," and commerce, agriculture and manufactures again flowing in their legitimate channels, and the country more prosperous and powerful than ever before—the terror of foreign tyrants and the refuge of the oppressed. But leaving the future in the care of Him "who doeth all things well," we suggest that immediate arrangements be made to celebrate the coming Fourth in a manner that shall do credit to our town. Give us a celebration that shall eclipse, if possible, the spirit and patriotism displayed in the impromptu celebration on the evening when the news of Lee's surrender was received, and we shall be satisfied.

THE MITE SOCIETY will meet at the Golden Eagle Hall on Tuesday evening, May 16th. These meetings are very pleasant affairs, and a good time may be anticipated. Ice cream and strawberries are among the luxuries to be served up on the occasion, and as the object of the society is a meritorious one, everybody should make it a point to attend.

NEW STORE.—L. Wursburg, formerly of Todd's Valley, will open a dry-goods and clothing store on the corner of Main and Stockton streets, with a most magnificent stock. Ladies dress and furnishing goods in endless variety, are to be then shown to the public, and gentlemen's clothing, hats, boots, etc., also. Ladies are invited to call and examine the goods, which are all of superior quality, and are to be sold cheap. See advertisement.

WE desire to call the attention of our readers to the new Family Atlas just published by Johnson & Colton. The work is complete in every particular. The maps are finely engraved on steel plate and, combined, would cover an area of nearly two hundred feet. The maps contain, besides the usual geographical outline, the subdivision of every State in the Union into counties, and the counties into townships. They show all the network of internal improvements, the lines of public surveys, the relative size of the states, the routes into and out of, the states so connected, by stages, steamboats and railroads, and a mass of information not to be found in any other work. It is the best work of the kind we ever saw.

IN giving an account of his visit to this place, the editor of the Stars and Stripes unintentionally we presume, so worded his article when speaking of the hotel-keepers here as to create an impression that the proprietor of the Dutch Flat Hotel was tinctured with copperheadism. Nothing can be farther from the truth. Mr. Seffens has borne himself as became a true and loyal citizen since the first gun was fired upon the flag of the country, aiding, as he was able, the Government in its efforts to sustain itself, in putting down the rebellion. We hope that our cotemporary after being assured of the facts will correct any error which may have been created to the prejudice of a worthy gentleman.

MESSRS. HALL & HAYWARD gave one of their chaste and beautiful concerts at Gold Run, on Saturday evening last, which, as it was the first and only respectable entertainment ever given at that place was rewarded with a full house. The ball after the performance passed off splendidly, and the whole affair was a source of great enjoyment to the citizens of that place.

CHINESE ROBBER ARRESTED.—Ah Shung, an individual of the celestial persuasion, who has a hankering after the yellow metal to be found at the bottom of sluices, was arrested on Thursday evening last, in Chinatown, a very classical subdivision of Dutch Flat. Mr. Shung had been engaged in the robbery of the Michigan, Wisconsin and Badger claims, reported several weeks ago. A clock stolen from the Badger claim, was recovered, and a tank containing about seventy-five pounds of quicksilver from the Michigan, was also found, but the ovo contained therein was non est. On the trial Ah Shung was lucky enough to be acquitted.

LADIES FESTIVAL.—From the report of the Committe who had charge of the business affairs of the Ladies Festival on the 1st of May we learn that the net proceeds amounted to $176 50, which all things considered is doing very well.

A BOY presented himself at the counter of Jay Cooke & Co., Philadelphia, a short time since, who had traveled all the way from Western Indiana to invest ten thousand dollars in the Government Loan; and thinking in the simplicity of his heart that it would be safer to get his bonds from Jay Cooke's own hands, he acted on his conviction.

TO DEMOCRATS---THE PERIL OF DEMOCRACY

NUMBER THREE.

As already intimated, the glory of Democracy has always been that it is the people's party, and the glory of our Government that it is a Government of the people. But how is it now? How has it been during the last two contests for the Presidency? Has not the livery of Democracy been stolen to serve aristocracy in? Let us see. A man of the people, well-known for his consistent life, for his honesty, for his devotion to the rights and interests of the people, for his honorable defence of the dignity of labor, in a word, as the people's friend, the workingmen's counselor—was nominated for the Presidency. An honest press and a pure Democracy would naturally hail him as a champion of the people and a true leader of Democracy. What did we see? What did we hear? We saw a man of the people ridiculed in the name of Democracy. We heard workingmen and Democrats, all over the land, shouting, "away with the railsplitter! Be off with your flatboatman!" Then the press would take up the refrain, and cast sneers at his family as unfit for the White House, and the same so-called Democratic press even pursued him to the White House, and represented the man and his family as wearing homespun and talking the dialect of the people! And all this in the name of Democracy! But his state papers will be used as models, and his name as the people's friend will be honored and venerated by a purified Democracy a thousand years after this bastard Democracy and these deluded Democrats have been forgotten in dishonored graves!

But will the people never discover their error? Will they always follow their corrupt, deceitful, and unscrupulous leaders? Look four years later. The same homespun man the railsplitter and flatboatman is again nominated and with him another man of the people, a workingman, a tailor, is nominated for the Vice Presidency. Now what do we hear from Democrats, and read in these aristocracy-worshipping Democratic newspapers? Who would believe it? It is the same old cry, poisoned by a foul and transparent lie, "down with the tyrant! Away with your railsplitter and your tailor! Give us McClellan and Pendleton!" Now McClellan is a military aristocrat! Pendleton is a money aristocrat! Both were bosom friends of the worst southern aristocrats before the Slaveholder's Rebellion! No intelligent man, be he Democrat or not, will deny this. Pendleton's career in Congress and McClellan's on the Chickahominy will blacken their memory forever, as the secret friend of Slavery and the professing friends of Freedom! They are the most consummate hypocrites, that the Rebellion has disclosed. McClellan tried to bury the Democratic party in the soldier's graves on the Chickahominy, but failing in that he tried to be President that he might betray the whole party and consign it to a worse doom than a nameless grave in the swamps of Virginia. But a merciful God averted that hope-crushing calamity! Enough genuine Democrats were undeceived to join the Union party and elect railsplitter and tailor. "Praise God for His goodness! And let ALL THE PEOPLE praise Him!"

A kind Providence preserved the railsplitter and boatman long enough to fence in the dear old Union again, and to navigate her noble old rivers, and to bear a redeemed people rejoice over this great workingman's work! But Liberty's robe had become soiled from her forced embrace of the foul monster Slavery, and it was fitting that she should be arrayed now in pure and spotless garments, and the best workingman the land could produce was needed to choose the cloth and fit the garment! His name is ANDREW JOHNSON! LINCOLN'S work was done The Lord gave the death-angel permission to release him from toil and care, and to bring him to receive the rewards that awaited him in Heaven, and introduce him to David, Cromwell, Washington, and their noble companions in glory, where copperheads are unknown and slaveholders come nevermore! The angel of death came on his errand, with an experience in his work of six thousand years. Time was given him to prepare for the task. He reached the earth in time to see Democrats voting against their best friend and for the arch-traitor to the party! Amazed at the spectacle, he had reason to conclude that his task would soon be accomplished, for he concluded that the pure patriot, though elected, would sink down in despondency to see men nurtured in Freedom and calling themselves Democrats, so besotted and deluded as to vote with "Jerseymen" for McClellan and Pendleton. But the noble hearted LINCOLN was too hopeful to sink down even under such a stroke. Astonished at this, the angel of death summoned all the diseases before him that he might select one fit to remove such a pure and trusting man from earth. They came at his call and he made his choice. It was in vain. No disease could be found that would consent to slay our President. It made the angel weep to think his errand so hard, and he sent away this motley multitude on their proper mission. While baffled thus, the time wore on. Victory followed victory to cheer the President's heart. At last in his rounds the angel of death came to Libbey Prison to release from their sufferings some of our tortured soldiers, and there he learned that the great and chivalrous head of the Chivalrous Confederacy, the courtly and accomplished gentleman, and christian statesman, JEFFERSON DAVIS, had expressed a hope for the cause of traitors if that Yankee baboon of a Lincoln could be put out of the way. His partners in infamy, "the leading spirits of the South," at once applauded it, and the plan was arranged. It only remained now to find a creature base enough to execute the assassin's deed. He soon was found. His name was Booth. He did the deed. LINCOLN left the world unconscious of a pain.

In the outset I claimed to be a Democrat, but I utterly repudiate any sympathy with the bastard party, born of partisan spirit and slavery, called Modern Democracy! I have never trained in that company. I have never herded with the human cattle called Irish voters! It is a cause past infamy that can only be upheld by such votes. But twenty-one drunken Irishmen, led by one dark spirit called a demagogue, would carry an election against twenty Governors of as many loyal States! And modern Democrats would make these twenty Irish patriots the guardians of American Liberty! But as I have already shown you, these deluded foreigners are now led by the worst of demagogues and hypocrites, and through them by the slave power and slaveholding aristocracy of the South. Can any honest man doubt it? Is not the very name democracy becoming a word of disgrace all over the land? And why is it? The principles which gave birth to that great party have not changed. They cannot change. But where is the party? It is subsidized and controlled in the interest of its most dangerous foe, and laying out all its remaining strength to complete its own ruin. Soon this treason-helping Democratic party will be joining its foul hand in confiding grasp with the red reeking hand of traitorous Democrats in the South, in an unholy scheme to restore defeated rebels to "their rights as citizens of our common country!" Oh, true Democrats! as you love your country, your principles and history, come out from the organization that can only lead to your ruin. Be not beguiled any longer by a name.

To Democrats that have shown their love of country to be stronger than the love of party and have taken an honorable stand with Union men of all parties, let me say a final word. No more noble and inviting career could be presented than the one now open before you. Only let us be true to great national principles and never stop short of a complete triumph of all great national measures. We are on the eve of great political contests, greater than any since the establishment of the nation by the revolutionary patriots. The strife will be hottest around fundamental laws which are to be discussed and settled. Every man at his post.

ONE OF THE PEOPLE.

IMPROMPTU LINES.

In a calm still night I love to gaze
Upon the dark blue vault of heaven,
To watch the stars in their trackless maze,
And think what purpose they were given.

Then would thought rush o'er my soul
Of bygone days that I had seen;
Thoughts that ne'er could bear control,
Scarce realize that they had been.

Sad memory often brings the day,
When kneeling at my mother's side,
My infant lips she taught to pray—
'Twere better, then, if I had died.

My mother, though long years have passed,
How happy, then, without alloy,
Thy beaming eye on me was cast,
And smiled upon thy wayward boy.

My sister dear, I see thee now,
Where oft we wandered by the cave,
I feel thy kiss still on my brow,
For me thou wouldst have died to save.

But why should I o'er others throw
Sorrows alone on me are cast?
Why should you or others know—
My dream of youth is almost past.

Dutch Flat, May 9th, 1865. R. M. A.

DUTCH FLAT, May 11, 1865.

FRIEND BOUST:—In an article which I penned for your paper some two weeks since, I charged that I had heard of certain women rejoicing over the news of the assassination of our late President, Abraham Lincoln. Commenting on said article, you suggested that the writer had only performed his duty in part; that he should publish the names of those who rejoiced, that they might be held up to the just scorn and indignation of the public. Not having witnessed any demonstrations of joy or heard any expressions myself, I do not feel fully justified to specify names, nor is it necessary for me to mention names in order to enlighten any one in the community of Dutch Flat. Rumor hath their names, and the people speak them on the street only with scorn—only to stigmatize. The disgrace that has attached to them will fasten to them so long as they reside in our midst, will follow them wherever they sojourn, stinking and festering around them, until their presence will be shunned as a plague, as a pestilence.

So much for the Government-hating, secession-loving, Jeff Davis-worshipping women of Dutch Flat. Think you the people of Dutch Flat cannot point them out? Who are the women that during the campaign preceding the last State and county election flocked around the rostrum occupied by the great whangdoodle Democrat of Placer county, as he canvassed the county in behalf of the Copperhead party, berating our Government, condemning every act of Lincoln to suppress the hell-born rebellion, justifying the South in its course, and belching forth treason with all the ingenuity of a copperhead politician. I say, who are the women that flocked near his desk to listen to his voice, and approved with gracious smiles and sparkling eyes the sentiments of aspersion to our Government there uttered? Aye, who is the woman that with courtesy and grace extended every accommodation to Jo Hamilton and the chairman of the meeting, H. Davis; and, a few nights after, when the people were addressed by that loyal champion of freedom, C. H. Tweed, refused said Tweed, through the chairman, the loan of a lamp for one moment, to enable the speaker to read some extract in proof of his position? I, Mr. Editor, was sitting near by, and well do I recollect with what scorn and contempt the fair but venomous lady (!) turned her back when politely asked, "Can you spare this light one moment for Colonel Tweed?" Some facts cannot be forgotten; antecedents will be referred to, and suppositions will be made regarding both the men and women who are and have been loyal to our Government and those who sympathize with the South, and consequently rejoice at any calamity that may befall our Government.

When Richmond had fallen, and the news reached us, every loyal heart was warmed, and we all felt an irresistible inclination to shout, to sing, and to rejoice. The evening, as is well known, was passed in merriment; some got slightly intoxicated on brandy—all were intoxicated with joy, with delight. I drank not a drop myself, yet was drunk with excitement. I helped build bonfires, helped make the anvils raise their voices, helped sing "John Brown," and did many other things that were in the eyes of copperheads very shameful and exceedingly mortifying, but in which I shall take pride as long as I live. Well, the copperheads said we were all drunk.

A few days passed; other news came; mournful news came; Lincoln was dead, was killed, was assassinated by a copperhead.

No need to ask the name of the copperhead in our midst who made the remark, "Wonder if the Republicans will all get drunk again?" His name is known, and will be remembered. Houses were draped in crape. The loyal occupants of rented houses considered it no insult to the owner to thus manifest his grief. The owner espies his house with door-knobs tied with crape, with columns entwined, and balustrades covered, and declares he will sell out to the first nigger that comes along!

What need, Mr. Editor, of calling names? The men and women who love our Government are known, as also are the men and women who despise it. The die is cast: their characters are stamped; their names on record; their names clothed with more infamy than that of Arnold; their children shall be cursed even to the seventh generation.

RECORD.

ODD FELLOWS' TESTIMONIAL.—During the fourth day's session of the Grand Lodge of Odd Fellows, "Rep. P. G. Master John F. Morse begged the privilege to, and in behalf of a number of the members of this R. W. Grand Lodge, present to Grand Master John A. McClelland, a chaste and beautifully mounted gold-headed cane, and a magnificent diamond breast-pin, being symbolical of the high appreciation which they, as members, entertained of the many noble qualities and virtues as a man, an Odd Fellow, and a presiding officer; trusting that as he leaned upon the cane, to support himself in the future, he might be reminded of that support and assistance which such experience as he had in the practice of the noble tenets of our Order, would give to his mind and conscience. And as these glistening gems reflected back the glorious sunlight of Heaven, so might he reflect in a far greater light, the brilliancy of the noble objects of our Order's organization—Friendship, Love, and Truth. Grand Master John A. McClelland accepted the presents, and expressed his deep sense of the obligation which they had placed him under, and disclaiming the possession of many of the high qualities attributed to him, claimed but to be an honest working Odd Fellow, with high appreciation of the objects, intentions, and purposes of the darling of his heart—Odd Fellowship—and while that heart beat with a single pulsation, would the remembrance of this day cling to him, and when, soon to be, on the declining side of life, he would cherish the remembrance of those, who were coworkers (and many of them with heads silvered over in the cause,) with him. That future happiness and all the blessings which virtue give, might be the lot of all present, was his earnest desire."

CHINESE DROWNED.—The Nevada Transcript says that on last Thursday two Chinese attempted to cross the Yuba river at Cincinnati Bar, near Mountain Well, and were drowned. The river is there crossed by what is called a "Flying Dutchman." A rope is stretched across from which a basket is suspended, into which the traveler gets and pulls himself across. The Celestials got into such a basket, but they had not gone far when the rope broke, and unless they stopped upon some of the rocks they have probably reached Marysville by this time.

NOT YET TAKEN.—The Visalia Delta says that a persistent rebel, hailing from some very dark place in Dixie where schools uses are scarce, remarked to a Union man a day or so since, that "he didn't believe any of the d—d abolition lies about the taking of Richmond. Jeff. Davis said it couldn't be took, and it couldn't! no-sir-ree." This fellow thinks that Columbus landed in the State of Arkansas, and the Tower of Babel was built at Missouri Bend on the Sacramento.

GOVERNOR "Parson" Brownlow says: "The only way to touch the tender sensibility of the Southern woman is to take away her negroes. Kill her husband, and she thanks God that He has enabled him to die for the good cause; but take away one of her negroes and she screams and bewails herself as if the devil himself were after her."

A FELLOW out West advertises on behalf of a certain famous accidental railway that "an experienced coroner and six practical jurors will follow each regular train in special cars, together with a few regualr surgeons and reporters."

UNITED STATES 7-30 LOAN.

BY AUTHORITY OF THE SECRETARY OF the Treasury, the undersigned has assumed the General Subscription Agency for the sale of United States Treasury Notes, bearing seven and three-tenths per cent. interest, per annum, known as the SEVEN-THIRTY LOAN.

These Notes are issued under date June 15th, 1865, and are payable three years from that time, in currency, or are convertible, at the option of the holder into

United States 5-20 Six per cent.

GOLD BEARING BONDS

These bonds are now worth a premium of nine per cent. including gold interest from November, which makes the actual profit on the 7-30 loan at current rates, including interest, about 10 per cent. per annum, besides its EXEMPTION FROM STATE AND MUNICIPAL TAXATION, WHICH ADDS FROM ONE TO THREE PER CENT. MORE, according to the rate levied on other property. The interest is payable in currency semi-annually, by coupons attached to each note, which may be cut off and sold to any bank or banker.

The interest amounts to

One cent per day on a $50 note.
Two cents per day on a $100 note.
Ten cents per day on a $500 note.
Twenty cents per day on a $1,000 note.
One dollar per day on a $5,000 note.

Notes of all denominations named will be promptly furnished upon receipt of subscriptions. This is now offered by the Government, and it is confidently expected that its superior advantages will make it the Great Popular Loan of the People.

THE ONLY LOAN IN MARKET

Less than $300,000,000 of the loan authorized by the last Congress, are now on the market.

This amount at the rate at which it is being absorbed, will all be subscribed for within four months, when the notes will undoubtedly command a premium, as has uniformly been the case on closing the subscriptions to other Loans.

In order that citizens of every town and section of the country may be afforded facilities for taking the loans, the National Bank, State Banks, and Private Bankers throughout the country have generally agreed to receive subscriptions at par. Subscribers will select their own agents, in whom they have confidence, and who only are to be responsible for the delivery of the notes for which they receive orders.

Subscription Agent, Philadelphia.

HOPE FOR THE AFFLICTED.—In another part of this paper will be found the advertisement of the celebrated Institute established by Dr. J. C. YOUNG, in 1850. In this age of deceit and charlatanism it is a boon to the suffering to point out to them where they are sure of obtaining the wished for relief and cure. Under the care of the skillful Doctor the sick and troubled can divest themselves of their burdens of pain; lay aside their cross, and secure health and happiness. If you are sick or in trouble, do not hesitate. Read the advertisement and follow the advice. Do not forget the number nor the manner of directing your letter. Consultation Office, 540, Washington street, San Francisco. no5-3m

MEDICAL CARD.—Success is said to be the criterion of merit. If this is so, Dr. Doherty is not an exception to the rule. Of the many physicians who advertise to cure the particular branches to which he has devoted his particular study, none has attained that wondrous and general practice which daily attend at his office. The great Ricord, of Paris, specially devoted his attention to the particular branch of Medicine denominated Specific and Chronic. Dr. Doherty has determined to do the same. Read his advertisement in another column, and the sworn statement of cures.

DR. CHAS. H. TOZER'S
Private Medical Institute,
N. E. Corner Jackson and Kearny Streets,
SAN FRANCISCO, CAL.

Established in the city of Sacramento, in 18 and removed to San Francisco in 1862, for the express purpose of affording an Asylum to those afflicted with Chronic and Venerial Diseases, and for the suppression of Quackery.

To the Afflicted.

DR. TOZER, IN RETURNING THANKS TO his patients and friends in the country, would most respectfully inform them that he can be found as usual at his Institute, N. E. corner Jackson and Kearny streets, devoting his time and intention particularly to the following diseases, viz: Syphilis in all its various forms, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Strictures of the Urethra, Nocturnal Emissions, Sexual Debility, Diseases of the Bladder and Kidneys, etc., etc. From his long experience and successful practice, he can warrant a perfect cure in all of the above mentioned cases.

No deleterious drugs used in my practice. My charges are moderate, and my treatment to my patients is always honorable. The utmost secrecy observed in all cases.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS.

Should you be afflicted with any of the following symptoms, such as Weakness of the Back and Limbs, Pain in the Head, Dimness of Vision, Nervousness and General Debility, Loss of Memory, Confusion of Ideas, and Depression of Spirits, Evil Forebodings, Self-distrust and an Aversion to Society, consult Dr. Tozer at once, and he will restore you to perfect health.

TO FEMALES.

When you are afflicted with weakness of the back and limbs, headache, loss of muscular power, palpitation of the heart, irritability, nervousness, extreme urinary difficulties, derangement of the monthly sickness, sterility, and other diseases peculiar to females—consult Dr. Tozer, and you will receive particular attention. Let no false delicacy prevent you, but apply at once, and save yourselves from painful sufferings and premature death.

My rooms are so arranged that there is no danger of exposure or of meeting any one except the Doctor.

TO CORRESPONDENTS.

Patients of either sex, residing in any part of the country, however distant, who may desire the opinion and advice of Dr. Tozer, can by submitting a written statement of their cases to the Doctor, receive all the attention and medicines necessary to effect a cure without the necessity of a personal interview.

All letters strictly confidential, opened and replied to by the Doctor himself.

Consultation at the office or by letter—FREE.

☞ Cures in all cases guaranteed.

FLAX MANUFACTURES.

In the early history of this country flax was an important item which entered into its manufactures. Our good grandmother considered a knowledge of spinning and weaving an indispensable accomplishment, and every girl was inducted into the practice of these household arts. In those days cotton was scarcely known, and our clothes were linens and woolens, both the product of handwork. The raw fabrics were carded and prepared for manufacturing by hand, for a long period, but carding machines were finally introduced, which converted wool into "rolls" which were spun by hand, and subsequently woven by the same means. But no machine was invented to prepare the flax, and its manufacture was continued by hand till its use was superseded by cotton.

In the early manufacture of this article the weaving was done by hand, the yarn being spun by machinery and then distributed throughout the country to be woven. After this, the manufacture of flax almost entirely ceased, and when in the process of cotton manufactures the power-loom was adopted, the question was settled, and manufactures of flax were only to be remembered. The fabrics, however, survived, and remained a fitting tribute to the industry and manual skill of the mothers and daughters of the generation that has passed. Occasionally, now, there are families where the linen has descended and is treasured as a legacy. Much of this old linen has furnished lint and bandages for our noble army.

Within a few years the attention of manufacturers has been directed to the possibilties of again resuming the manufacture of flax by machinery. Considerable difficulty has been experienced in reducing the fiber to a proper state to be operated upon, and numerous experiments have been instituted. Various degrees of success have attended these efforts, and there is a good prospect that the culture and manufacture of flax will, ere long become an important element in our industry. We were not aware that so great progress had been made, and such a variety of articles had been manufactured, till we saw, a day or two since, at the office of Governor Smith, several kinds of goods made from flax fiber, such as carpets, heavy crash and seamless bags, and other articles being introduced to show the applicability and value of large quantities of it, till recently, being thrown away after the seed had been secured.

On inquiry, we learned that Gov. Smith as early as September, 1862, determined to enter upon the business. He erected works at Delaware, Ohio, which have been in operation for more than a year. There is a brick mill, one hundred and twenty-eight by forty feet, with machinery of the most improved kinds for the breaking and scutching of the straw, with pickers, &c., the power being furnished by a Corliss steam engine. Connected with the mill, is a barn, the largest in the State, being two hundred and fifty feet wide, for receiving and storing the straw. After being reduced and prepared, the product is brought to Rhode Island, and manufactured into the articles above mentioned. The machinery running at present is at River Point, and two other mills are being prepared and fitted with the necessary machinery, at Scituate, where it is intended to continue the manufacture of all articles of the coarser fabrics, usual to produce from flax, with the present processes for preparing it.—Providence Press.

SOMETHING FOR EVERYBODY.—When you walk in the street with a lady, keep your hands out of your pockets, and cigar out of your mouth. Don't change sides with her on crossing the street; it is quite as proper that you should fall through trap doors as that she should. [Mem.: trap doors are next to the wall, not the street.] Always take the right hand when you meet another person, and don't stop. At table, take the dish the host offers you, and don't pass it to the nearest neighbor, even if a lady; it is ungenerous to reprove your host or hostess to his or her face. There is a point where self-abnegation becomes rudeness, and this is precisely that point. Don't offer your chair to a new comer unless it is the only one of the kind and the best in the room. Rise when another guest leaves the house where you are entertained, but do not follow to the door. You thus spoil a more cordial leave-taking. Don't sit cross-legged in presence of ladies or in company of ceremony. Keep your fingers out of your button-holes, and your hands from off your lap. Make yourself as comfortable as you can without incommoding any one. Your host, if a gentleman, always likes to see his guest comfortable and contented. Be neither a pump nor a pumper, but alternately assume both conditions. Ask and answer questions with diplomatic propriety. Speak well of people or speak not at all. Nothing indicates greater defect of colloquial ability than vituperation, slander or angry declamation. Maintain repose if the earth quakes. Don't squeeze a lady's hand, for, besides being a vulgar demonstration of affection, ladies often wear rings. The slightest possible pressure is in good taste—better than flaccid wilted shirt-collars shaking of hands, that is more disgusting than the hanging of a dead snake on one's fingers. But there is a difference between the respectful and real kindly scarcely perceptible pressure of the whole hand and a persistant grip that leaves the fingers white for an hour, and a lady disgusted with you for a week. Always wear a clean shirt and collar, and don't fail to scour your teeth. All of this is respectfully submitted to by those who would be recognized as persons of "good breeding."—Sunday Mercury.

GRAND LODGE, I. O. O. F.—The Grand Lodge held the fourth day of its session on Friday.—Representative Garwood, of No. 17, on behalf of the Committee of arrangements, and Past Grands and members of Lodges of San Francisco, tendered a cordial invitation to the members of this W. R. Grand Lodge, to meet with them at a banquet to be given at the Cosmopolitan Hotel at 10 o'clock, P. M., Friday evening, May 5th, 1865. The invitation was unanimously accepted. The matter of forming a separate Grand Jurisdiction of the State of Nevada, was referred to the Lodges of that State. A petition from various Lodges in Districts numbers one and fifteen, was received, praying that a new District be carved out of the two mentioned, to be composed of San Pablo Lodge, No. 43, Solano Lodge, No. 22, and Pacheco Lodge, No. 117. The petition was granted.—The Committee on Legislation reported an amendment to the printed journal, with reference to receiving D D Grand Masters with Honors of the Orders when officially visiting the Lodges, adopted.—The case of W. A. Grimes vs. Cherokee Lodge No. 95, was finally settled by a withdrawal of the appeal. Resolutions were adopted attaching Lodge No. 63, held at Latrobe, to District No. 12. Tendering a vote of thanks to R. W. Treasurer Kimball. In favor of granting a charter to the State of Nevada in the Grand Lodge of the United States. Amending Article 11, Section 1, of the Constitution of the Grand Lodge, by substituting the word "October" for "May." Locating the sessions of the Grand Lodge in San Fracisco, and limiting the time a Representative may speak on any one question at any one time. The following submitted by Representative Sargeant of No. 16, was adopted: "Lodge funds can only be used for charities and expenses in the Order; but the charities of the Order outside of its own members, are to be sustained by voluntary contributions." Reports from Committees of Appeals, on Petitions, and the Special Committee on Digest, were ordered to be printed. The Finance Committee submitted a report of the estimate of revenues and expenses for the ensuing year, and also several resolutions on matters of business. The Committee acknowledged the receipt of $100 from Templar Lodge, No. 17, as a contribution to the Wilsey Monument Fund, and the same was handed to the Grand Secretary. Grand Lodge adjourned until Saturday, at ten o'clock, A. M.

If you see a lady approaching who appears to have nothing on her head but a piece of gauze or ribbon lying flat upon it, you may know that she is wearing the latest style of bonnet. There is a singular fact stated in connection with those bonnets—the smaller they grow, the more they cost.

THIS CELEBRATED INSTITUTE

has enjoyed on this coast an uninterupted success of fourteen years, and has become one of the renowned Hospitals of the age. What the celebrated Lock Hospital is to London, and the no less renowned es tablishment of Ricord is to Paris, this Institute has become to the Pacific coast. The thousands annually received and cured place it in point of number of patients among the very first of the world, and the success of its treatment ranks it second to none.

PRIVATE DISEASES IN MALES and IRREGULARITIES IN FEMALES are the great destroyers of health. They insidiously attack the system and gradually undermine and destroy it; they drive the bloom from the cheek, the lustre from the eye, the strength and vigor from the frame; they give to the world puny and diseased offspring, and poison, through successive generations the race of man. The marks can be seen in Scrofula, Consumption, Cripples, the Idiotic, the Paralytic, the Insane, etc.

There is no more terrible scourge to the human race than those diseases arising from the contamination of Venerial Poison. The mildest forms, by retreating to the blood, hold ever over the one afflicted, the sword of destruction that is liable at any moment to fall and blight—to utterly destroy—all earthly hopes.

MERCURY, recognized as the most fatal medical enemy to man, combining with the Venerial, doubles in dangers. Those who have been treated with that pernicious mineral poison are not cured: the disease has only assumed a new form.

Do not be satisfied with partial cures that leave the poison to crawl through the system, eating its way into the tissues and organs beneath the apparently smooth surface, to burst out in the future with a virulence that will baffle the effects of medicine. WHEN PERFECT CURES can be obtained by consulting a physician whom long practice and thorough investigation into the causes of DISEASES of the URINARY ORGANS enables to determine at once the nature of the disease.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS OR SPERMATORROEA.

The young man who experiences that growing weakness in his muscular and mental organization should stop to consider whence it arises. He will find in the weakness of the back, trembling of the limbs, disordered digestion, unaccountable failing of the powers of the mind, distaste for society, dread of impending trouble, forebodings of evil, sleeplessness, troubled and lacivious dreams accompanied by growing deafness, loss of muscular power, and numerous other symptoms of disorganization, the positive traces of that most terrible and destructive of all diseases, Seminal Weakness—wasting away his powers, destroying his hope of life and manhood, and dragging him along the broken path of his existence toward a premature and loathsome grave. To him who finds his life dribbling out in the discharge of the vital principal of existence in nocturnal and diurnal emissions, the mere cessation of its appearance brings no assurance of relief.

Marriage, that holy office, the safeguard and hope of manhood, brings to such an one no hope of cure, but adds to his misery in the knowledge that the one who looks to him for so much of her happiness, is a victim of his evil, and an innocent companion of his punishment. He adds to his misery and disorder until hope leaves him. There is no rescue except in proper and skillful treatment. Consult, then, at once, a physician whom long practice and careful research has made thoroughly conversant with every phase of the disease. Those who have become the victims of solitary vices, that dreadful, fascinating and destructive habit, which fills thousands of sick rooms with paralytics and consumptives, and hundreds of untimely graves with its misguided victims, should consult, without a moment's delay, one who will sympathize with their sufferings. To such the Doctor would especially address himself, giving to each and all assurance of a PERFECT and PERMANENT CURE, without hindrance from business, change of diet, or fear of exposure.

Do not forget the address. See below.

IMPORTANT TO FEMALES.

When a female is in trouble or afflicted with disease, and requires medical or surgical assistance, the enquiry should be, Where is t ere a physician who is fully competent to administer relief, and whose respectable standing in society recommends him to the confidence of the community? The Doctor, understanding how imperatively necessary these requirements are, feels ca led upon to interpose, and by the attention of the afflicted to the fact that he has been a Professor of Obstetrics and Female Diseases for twenty years, and is fully qualified to administer in all cases, both medically and surgically, not in a superficial manner, but in as thorough a manner as years of study and practice—both in hospitals and private families—can make, to save them from the hands of the unqualified, unscrupulous and designing. Therefore families can rely upon him as upon a father. All in affliction can find in him one who can feel and sympathize with and befriend them in trouble—one in whose secrecy and the utmost confidence can be placed. Consultation, by letter or otherwise, Free. See address below.

THE CELEBRATED FEMALE REMEDIES, compounded from the private prescription of Dr. Young, have now obtained a most extended popularity, and are correctly viewed to be the safest and surest remedies or the complaints for which they are applied. The constanly accruing testimonials of their efficacy declare them to be pre-eminently superior in their action. No lady should be without these Renovating Agents. None genuine unless procured at this office.

QUICK CURES AND SMALL CHARGES!

The Electropathic Institute,

645 Washington st, San Francisco.

ESTABLISHED FEBRUARY, 1860, BY AN ASSOCIATION OF SCIENTIFIC GENTLEMEN FOR CURE OF DISEASES AND THE SUPPRESSION OF QUACKERY

Truths for the Afflicted.

This splendid establishment was inaugurated in February, 1860, by an association of Scientific gentlemen, that there might be a Medical Establishment in San Francisco, where the afflicted could find scientific and honorable, as well as humane treatment. Outrageous Quackery had so long run rampant over afflicted humanity that all confidence was being lost in the Medical Profession, and it was time that there should be an Institute where the afflicted could apply with the certainty of honorable and Scientific treatment. And the result has thus far exceeded the most sanguine expectations of its founders.

Thousands have been made to rejoice in returned health, who had been trifled with by the numerous vampires that abound upon this coast, the chief of whom has been obliged to close out and leave the country; but still there are some left of whom the afflicted should beware.

The basis of the treatment at the Institute is the Electropathic System. The Physician and Surgeon who has been a Professor in one of the best Medical Colleges in America, and who has made a special study of Chronic Diseases for the last fifteen years, is thoroughly qualified to treat by medicine, and will warrant a perfect and permanent cure in the shortest possible time. All long-standing cases of disease no matter what may be their nature, give way under the course of treatment pursued at the Institute, and the result is perfect health and a strengthened constitution where it has been injured.

It would be useless to enumerate the diseases, as it would be occupying space to no purpose. Every nameable complaint to which humanity is liable can be cured by the Faculty at the Institute.

No mercury is used upon any consideration. All medicines prescribed are vegetable, and in cases where the patient can remain in the city, and wishes to be treated by Electricity, no medicines will be used. All medicines are electrized, which makes them much more active, and destroys all nauseous taste, making them as palatable as wine.

The Directors wish to speak of specialities more extensively than of other complaints, because empirics have used more deception about them than they have about the regular troubles of the human family. And first on the list is that dreadful malady denominated Seminal Weakness, or Spermatorrhœa, a complaint which not only affects the body with pain and lassitude, making life a burden, but affects the brain, creating Insanity. It drives more men to the mad house than all other diseases added together. By the Electropathic System this terrible trouble gives way, and the hitherto emaciated victim is made to rejoice in perfect health.

Next upon the list is Venereal, in all of its terrible forms and phases.

It is impossible to paint this disease in colors sufficiently terrible to do it justice. It is the most awful disease to which the human family is liable, and if not arrested when active, making him a loathsome mass of living corruption. It is also one of the most insidious diseases in the world. While the exterior shows no symptom, the horrible disease is sapping the foundations of life, preparing to attack its vital parts, as soon as the patient shall by some indiscretion weaken the system. Reader, if you have ever had this awful disease in any form whatever, call at once at the Institute, and the physician there will examine you and tell you if you have any of the virus in your blood. In such cases consultations are always gratis, and should you have any of the dreadful complaint about you, a cure will be warranted in a short time, or no charges will be made for services.

Strictures.

This terrible affection, which badly affects the nervous system as to prevent sound and health giving sleep, should be attended to in its early stages, or an operation both painful and dangerous will have to be resorted to. It is usually first indicated by darting pains in the parts, but very light and hardly noticeable at first, increasing gradually, until they become troublesome, sometimes accompanied by slight irritations in the passage of urine. A quick cure is easily performed at the Institute if early application is made.

To Females.

Your delicate organizations should be treated with great scientific care. At the Institute you will find a kind physician, who can at once discover your disease or trouble, and sympatize with you in your affliction. Should you be irregular you can get relief, no matter what may be the cause. You need not fear to call on account of the delicacy of consultation for the utmost secrecy will be insured at all times, and the resident physician will treat you in the most honorable manner, giving you all the assistance and advice, both medical and surgical, that you may require. Private apartments, especially for Ladies.

Preventive.

Dr. J. H. Josselyn's celebrated Preventive for married ladies can be obtained only at the Institute.—Price, Ten Dollars.

Warranted to prevent pregnancy. Can be used without any inconvenience, and is good for one year if directions are followed.

This Magnetic Preventive is not injurious, but is conducive to health, and can be used without the knowledge of any one but the party using it.

To sum up, there is no place where the medical profession is practiced in the State of California, wherein the same amount of scientific attainments are employed, and, consequently, where the afflicted can be so well treated, and be as sure of a cure, as at the Electropathic Institute, 645 Washington street, (south side,) a few doors below Kearny.

Reader, if you are sick and need medical assistance call there before employing any one else, and judge for yourself. You will there find the best consulting, as well as the best operating talent in the State, together with the only Electropathic Instrument that can be depended upon in the curative process.

Medicine sent to all parts of the State, Oregon and Nevada, upon the receipt of a letter describing the case.

All letters must be directed to J. H. JOSSELYN, M. D., Resident Physician, Electropathic Institute.

Dr. H. JOSSLYN has no connection with any other establishment or Institute in this city.

All letters answered with promptness and pleasure, and the utmost secrecy observed. Address

PRIVATE MEDICAL AID.

Quick Cures and Moderate Charges.

DR. W. K. DOHERTY'S

Private Medical and Surgical Institute.

Sacramento Street, below Montgomery, opposite the Pacific Mail Steamship Co.'s Office. Private entrance on Leidesdorff st San Francisco.

Established expressly to afford the afflicted sound and Scientific Medical Aid in the treatment and cure of all Private and Chronic Diseases, cases of secrecy and all Sexual Diseases

To the Afflicted.

DR. W. K. DOHERTY returns his sincere thanks to his numerous patients for their patronage, and would take this opportunity to remind them that he continues to consult at his Institute for the cure of chronic diseases of the Lungs, Liver, Kidneys, Digestive and Genito-Urinary Organs, and all private diseases, viz: Syphilis in all its forms and stages, Seminal Weakness, and all the horrid consequences of self-abuse, Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Strictures, Nocturnal and Diurnal Emissions, Sexual Debility, Diseases of the Back and Loins, Inflammation of the Bladder and Kidneys, etc., etc., and he hopes that his long experience and successful practice of many years in Europe and the United States, he is enabled to apply the most efficient and successful remedies against diseases of all kinds. He uses no mercury, charges moderate, treats his patients in a correct and honorable way, has references from men of known respectability and high standing in society. All parties consulting him, by letter or otherwise, will receive the best and gentlest treatment and implicit secrecy.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

Dr. Doherty—Dear Sir: I feel my health so fully restored, that in common gratitude, I believe I should make you some written acknowledgment for your valuable services—particularly so as your fee was small for the work performed.

I arrived in this city from the East about one year ago, and was then suffering from an old case of Gleet, complicated with Stricture. Being a stranger in this city, and believing those Doctors who gave such positive assurances of success were necessarily the best (some of whom have a large number of titles), I placed myself in their charge and continued under their treatment until I had lost nearly all hope and a considerable sum of money.

I wish to say now that you are the sixth Doctor I have employed, and the only one that has ever done me any service. My Gleet is wholly cured, the Stricture is all removed, and my general health is better than it has been for years.

In conclusion I would say to the many unfortunates who require medical advice, if you have any doubt as to whom you may employ, ask Dr. Doherty for my address and call and see me. (I keep store in this city.) My experience may save you many dollars.

I would also add that in the early stage of my disease, I used a large amount of the preparations advertised as an infallible cure for Gonorrhœa, Gleet, etc., but never derived any benefit from them.

I am, Doctor, very truly yours,

L——— H———.

SEMINAL WEAKNESS—A SWORN-TO CERTIFICATE OF MOST REMARKABLE CURE OF SPERMATORRHŒA.

A desire to benefit humanity, and a feeling of gratitude to Dr. W. K. Doherty, alone induces me to make this statement. For many years I have been afflicted with that fearful disease known as "Spermatorrhœa," or Seminal Weakness, the result of self-abuse, but till 1855 experienced but little trouble or inconvenience. In that year, however, I had Seminal weakness to an alarming extent, which was soon followed by the usual alarming symptoms, as weakness of the back and limbs, pain in the head dimness of vision, nervousness and general debility. My mind, too, was afflicted to such an extent as to seriously impair my memory; my ideas were confused and spirits depressed. I was averse to society, had evil forebodings and self-distrust, and was entirely unfitted for any of the duties of life. From 1855 to the summer of 1862, I employed the very best medical talent I could find, and spent several hundred dollars, but in no instance obtained more than temporary relief. I had about concluded there was no relief for me in this world, but seeing Dr. Doherty's advertisement, I thought I would call and see him, as he charged nothing for consultation. I had an interview with Dr. Doherty at his office, in Sacramento street, and his fee for treatment was so reasonable, I determined to try him, though I did not expect much benefit from his treatment. On the 5th of December last I placed myself under his care; in one week I found myself very much improved, and now, after five weeks' treatment, I feel myself thoroughly cured of all my troubles and in the enjoyment of the best health. Hoping that my experience may be of benefit to others similarly afflicted, I subscribe myself JAMES JOHNSTON.

Subscribed and sworn to before me, this 15th day of January, A. D. 1864.

[L. S.] A. G. RANDALL, Notary Public.

To Females.

When a female is in trouble, or afflicted with disease, as weakness of the back and limbs, pain in the head, dimness of sight, loss of muscular power, palpitation of the heart, irritability, nervousness, extreme urinary difficulties, derangement of digestive functions, general debility, vaginities, all diseases of the womb, hysteria, sterility, and all other diseases peculiar to females, they should go or write at once to the celebrated female doctor, W. K. Doherty, at his Medical Institute, and consult him about their troubles and disease. The Doctor is effecting more cures than any other Physician in the State of California. Let no false delicacy prevent you, but apply immediately and save yourself from painful sufferings and premature death. All Married Ladies, whose delicate health or other circumstances prevent an increase in their families, should write or call at Dr. W. K. Dougherty's Medical Institute, and they will receive every possible relief and help. The Doctor's offices are so arranged that he can be consulted without fear of observation.

To Correspondents.

Patients residing in any part of the State, however distant, who may desire the opinion and advice of Dr. Doherty on their respective cases, and who think proper to submit a written statement of such, in preference to holding a personal interview, are respectfully assured that their communications will be held most sacred. Dr. Doherty takes this opportunity of observing, that all letters are only opened and replied to by himself, and the latter as promptly as possible.

If the case be fully and candidly described, the usual fee of ten dollars enclosed, (by express or in a registered letter) personal communication will be superseded, as instructions for diet, regimen, and the general treatment of the case itself (including the remedies), will be forwarded without delay, and in such a manner as to convey no purport of the letter or parcel so transmitted.

☞ Consultation at the office FREE. By letter, $10. Permanent cure guaranteed, or no pay. Address, W. K. DOHERTY, M. D.,

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

For Non-Retention or Incontinence of Urine, Inflammation or Ulceration of the Bladder or Kidneys, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Gravel, Brick Dust Deposits, Dropsical Swellings, Organic Weakness, Debility, Female Complaints, &c.

HELMBOLD'S

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

AND

Improved Rose Wash

Will radically exterminate from the system Diseases arising from Habits of Dissipation, at little expense, little or no change of diet, no inconvenience or exposure; completely superseding those unpleasant and dangerous remedies, Copaiba and Mercury, in curing these diseases.

USE HELMBOLD'S

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU

In all Diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in MALE OR FEMALE, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing. It is pleasant in its taste and odor, IMMEDIATE in action, and more strengthening than any of the preparations of Bark or Iron.

Those suffering from Broken Down or Delicate Constitutions, procure the Remedy at once.

The Reader must be aware that however slight may be the attack of the above diseases, it is certain to affect his Bodily Health, Mental Powers and Happiness. If no treatment is submitted to, Consumption or Insanity may ensue.

All the above diseases require the aid of a diuretic.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU

Is the Great Diuretic.

HELMBOLD'S

HIGHLY CONCENTRATED

Compound Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla,

For purifying the blood, removing all diseases arising from excess and imprudence in life, chronic constitutional diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, and the only reliable and effectual known remedy for the cure of Scrofula, Scald Head, Salt Rheum, Pains and Swelling of the Bones, Ulcerations of the Throat and Legs, Blotches, Pimples on the Face, Tetter, Erysipelas, and all scaly eruptions of the skin, and beautifying the COMPLEXION.

AND HAPPINESS

NOT A FEW

Of the worst disorders that afflict mankind arise from the corruption that accumulates in the Blood. Of all the discoveries that have been made to purge it out, none can equal in effect HELMBOLD'S COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA. It cleanses and renovates the Blood, instills the vigor of health into the system, and purges out the humors which make disease. It stimulates the healthy functions of the body, and expels the disorders that grow and rankle in the Blood. Such a remedy, that could be relied on, has long been sought for, and now, for the first time, the public have one on which they can depend. Our space here does not admit of certificates to show its effects, but the trial of a single bottle will show to the sick that it has virtues surpassing anything they have ever taken.

Two tablespoonsful of the Extract of Sarsaparilla, added to a pint of water, is equal to the Lisbon Diet Drink, and one bottle is equal to a gallon of the Syrup of Sarsaparilla, or the decoction as usually made.

The above Extracts are prepared on purely scientific principles—in Vacuo—and embody the full strength of the ingredients entering into their composition. A ready and conclusive test will be a comparison of their properties with those set forth in the U. S. Dispensatory.

HOW TO USE THE REMEDIES.

In Diseases of the Blood, Humors on the Face, or any and every part of the body, use Extract Sarsaparilla, applying to Pimples and all external Humors or Eruptions the Improved Rose Wash.

Use the Extract Buchu for all diseases requiring the aid of a Diuretic, except those of the Urinary Organs, such as Gonorrhœa and Gleet; in these use the Extract Buchu and Inject with the Improved Rose Wash.

☞ THESE EXTRACTS HAVE BEEN ADMITTED TO USE IN THE UNITED STATES ARMY, and also are in very general use in all the STATE HOSPITALS AND PUBLIC INSTITUTIONS throughout the land, as well as in private practice, and are considered as invaluable remedies.
